

STYLE ON POINT

"This stunning kitchen is part of a new build and uses well-appointed design and clean architectural lines. The room is highly functional and acts as a bridge between the living area and the outdoor space. The foyer and battens form a visual screen between the kitchen and living area, defining the space in the void above and giving the kitchen a feeling of grandeur. More light is also provided, amplified by the use of a glass splashback which captures the northern sun that provides light throughout the day. This area links the living spaces and the outdoors, so it was important it remain sleek and uncluttered."

EXPERT TIP

Polytec's Imi-Beton on the doors and drawers looks like concrete but is lightweight and durable.
